Demeanor Analyzed. "Your chauffeur seems very respectful," said the guest. "The air of deferential solicitude," replied Mr. Chuggins, "is not respect. It is sympathy from Washington Star. "It has been decided that the housefly and the mosquito must go," said one scientist. "Yes," answered the other, "but they don't pay any more attention to the decision than they would to one imposing a fine of $29,000,000."—Washington Star.

For COLDS and GRIP. Atch's CAPSICUM is the best remedy—relieves the aching and feverishness—cures colds and grippe in normal conditions. Its liquid-effects immediate. 10c, 25c and 50c. at drug stores.

The bark of the dog is an acquired habit. In his wild state he never barks, but whines and howls.

Vagabondage. Many men these days are heard to declare they will not be the slaves any longer of stenography and the telephone, captives of the rollover door and the lettered ground-glass door. They will search out fresh fields and pastures new, beyond the reach of the long arm of business and the importunity of sleeve-plucking strangers.

A vacation or vacation season, with a man's full duty discharged, is more than justifiable; it is a thing "requisite and necessary as well for the body as the soul," to use the language of the Book of Common Prayer. But here and there comes upon cases of restless souls who would do well to remember that a man may be in bondage to a roving disposition as well as in captivity to the routine of the office or the mill. Custom, Wordsworth has reminded us, lies upon us with a weight "heavy as frost and deep almost as life," and he who has formed the habit of deserting his job at the slightest provocation of pleasure will find that, like other habits, it is not easy to shake off.

Mandalay is the poetic expression of the wanderlust of the man who comes to the temple bells of the East, "condemned to live unilingually amidst a clean and shaven race," and finds, to his discomfort, that "there ain't no 'buses runnin' from the bank to Mandalay."—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Road Puzzle. "Am I on the right road to Ripley?" inquired the traveler. "No, sir," answered the farmer, "you'd ought to have turned to the left at the brick house a couple of miles back."

"But I was told that I'd have no trouble in finding the way if I kept on the right road." "That's right." "So when I came to two roads I turned to the right." "That was wrong." "The traveler was becoming irritated." "Then the right road was the wrong one, was it?" he asked. "You're right." "How can a thing be both right and wrong?" "That only shows, mister," said the farmer, "calmly chewing a straw, 'that you've never milked a cow. If you had you'd know that her right side is her wrong side.'"—Chicago Tribune.

ON FOOD

The Right Foundation of Health. Proper food is the foundation of health. People can eat improper food for a time until there is a sudden collapse of the digestive organs, then all kinds of trouble follow.

The proper way out of the difficulty is to shift to the pure, scientific food, Grape-Nuts, for it rebuilds from the foundation up. A New Hampshire woman says:

"Last summer I was suddenly taken with indigestion and severe stomach trouble and could not eat food without great pain, my stomach was so sore I could hardly move about. This kept up until I was so miserable life was not worth living.

"Then a friend finally, after much argument, induced me to quit my former diet and try Grape-Nuts. "Although I had but little faith I commenced to use it, and great was my surprise to find that I could eat it without the usual pain and distress in my stomach.

"So I kept on using Grape-Nuts, and soon a marked improvement was shown, for my stomach was performing its regular work in a normal way without pain or distress.

"Very soon the yellow coating disappeared from my tongue, the dull, heavy feeling in my head disappeared and my mind felt light and clear; the languid, tired feeling left, and altogether I felt as if I had been reborn. Strength and weight came back rapidly, and I went back to my work with renewed ambition.

"To-day I am a new woman in mind as well as body, and I owe it all to this natural food, Grape-Nuts. "There's a Reason."

The boat contained nine men and sank in midstream. Three men were powerless, William Slaugh, Henry Neuffer and Grover Cooper. Neuffer was saved after he had nearly drowned, by Thomas Stryker, who was then a sergeant in the famous old regiment, but who now is in business in Chicago in which he has accumulated a fortune.

In 1863 he was transferred to the Western army and was with General Sherman on his march to the sea. After the war and until 1887 he was an employee of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company. He is survived by a widow and two daughters, the Misses Martha and Gussie Schadel.

Rattlesnake Rocks' Third Victim.

Williamsport.—Rattlesnake Rocks the designation given a pool in Pine Creek, a few miles west of the city, claimed its third human victim. The place has the most gruesome record of any swimming hole in this section. The latest victim is Leroy Dunham, of Antrim, aged 18. He was camping with friends along the creek and had gone in to the stream to bathe. In a moment he and his tank by force his fellow campers could reach him. Not long ago, a girl, Fannie Sugar, drowned in the pool, while trying to pole a boat across the stream, and even more recently John Roberts, of Wellsboro, lost his life at this spot while bathing.

Dustless Roads For Darby.

They were removed a few minutes prior to a train coming that way and a terrible wreck was thus averted. Andrew Cologin and Lizzie Cowart, aged 6 years, were placed under arrest for putting the obstructions on the rails. On account of their tender years they were dismissed with a sharp reprimand.

Over-ripe Stock.

The following advice from a Western fruit receiving firm is more or less appropriate for shippers in this section: "Do not load over-ripe stock in crates, it will quickly depreciate the value of your good stuff. Ship to arrive the fore part of the week if possible and always use standard crates. Use extra sleepers in all crates so as to prevent the smashing of the fruit, having strips running lengthwise on all crates instead of crosswise. Early shippers will realize a good price, but clips are hard to sell."—American Cultivator.

Dest Invigorator.

Pure, fresh air is the best invigorator on earth. It is necessary in the poultry house, the incubator room and the brooder house. The old fowls must have it, the eggs require it, and without it the chicks will die. Care must be given in supplying it, however. So arrange the ventilation that there will be no direct drafts, but an easy, free circulation, carrying out the poisoned air and supplying it with fresh, sweet, pure air that the Creator has so bountifully furnished for man, beast, bird and reptile.—Farmers' Home Journal.

CABS FOR CUSTOMERS.

York Women Would Make Saloonists Send Drunks Home.

York.—The drunker a man may get the more certain he will be to get home safely if legislation endorsed by the Women's Christian Temperance Union of this city, should go into effect. The white ribbon women propose that as an effective means to stop the selling of liquor to persons already intoxicated, a law be enacted compelling any retail liquor man who sells a customer enough to make him dizzy to pay for a cab in which to take the customer home. In case the patron has visited other saloons earlier in the evening, the proprietor of the one in which he first flies signs of distress is the party responsible for his fare. Saloon men who have heard of the project, which the women propose to take to the Legislature, are against it; but cab men think it would be a good thing.

A committee of Reading merchants and manufacturers are calling upon business men of that city to question them upon the advisability of holding an industrial exposition in that city next spring. The project is meeting with much favor and the event is assured.

At a meeting of the Doylestown School Board Miss Syrena B. Tulon, of New York City, was elected teacher of music at the borough schools. Large shipments of huckleberries are being made by the Reading Railway Company from the coal regions. Some evenings the shipments cannot be carried in one car and the crates are piled up in baggage and express cars.

The Farm

To Prevent Gapes. Frequent rains are likely to make gapes among young chicks more prevalent than usual. It is important, therefore, to use preventives instead of waiting until the disease appears and then try to cure it. One diet which is recommended as a preventive is the use of pounded garlic with the usual food (one garlic bulb to ten chicks daily).—Farmers' Home Journal.

CHILD HAD SIXTY BOILS

And Suffered Annually With a Red Scald-Like Humor on Her Head—Troubles Cured by Cuticura.

"When my little Vivian was about six months old her head broke out in boils. She had about sixty in all and I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment which cured her entirely. Sometime later a humor broke out behind her ears and spread up to her head until it was nearly half covered. The humor looked like a scald, very red with a sticky, clear fluid coming from it. This occurred every spring. I always used Cuticura Soap and Ointment which never failed to heal it up. The last time it broke out it became so bad that I was discouraged. But I continued the use of Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent until she was well and has never been troubled in the last two years. Mrs. M. A. Where The New Gold Goes.

This year's new gold, of which there will be more than four hundred million dollars' worth, will be quickly absorbed by the great banks of civilized nations and the national treasuries; while perhaps a quarter of it will be used in the States. Six of the bigger banks of continental Europe increased their accumulations of gold by some $200,000,000 in the year ending with June 30 and now hold the huge amount of $1,864,599,000. The Bank of France alone having on hand $740,130,000, an increase over the previous year of $118,030,000. In preparation for war contingencies, as well as anticipating that if peace continues there will be need of an ample backing of enterprise by means of credit, the great banks of the world are very keen in securing all the gold they can lay hands on. India is "the sink of the precious metals," so also is Egypt given to hoarding gold, and Lord Cromer, who has governed the country, and should know what he is talking about, says that the Egyptians hoard $30,000,000, or $150,000,000 of the yellow metal every year. An almost incredible statement, but Lord Cromer is a serious man, and knows the Land of the Pharaohs.—Mexican Herald.
